

Densmore issues reminder on garbage and refuse collection policy

Thomas A. Densmore, Dixon's new commissioner of streets and public improvements, today issued a reminder to Dixon residents on the city's garbage and refuse collection policy.

"The city has had a policy for some time," he commented, "and we will continue to follow it. The street and sanitation departments will continue to provide all the services as have been provided in the past, but I feel a reminder on the policy is in order."

Densmore outlined the policy:

- All garbage, rubble, papers, grass clippings, leaves, other vegetation, bottles and cans should be deposited at the curb on regular collection day, tied in plastic bags or in 20-gallon standard-sized garbage cans with handles and tight-fitting lids. No one container should weigh more than 50 pounds when full.

—Paper sacks and boxes for the purpose of depositing garbage are not allowed.

—Plastic garbage cans will be used at the owner's risk.

—Garbage crews will start picking up no earlier than 6 a.m.

—All junk and other household refuse small enough to fit in the garbage truck hopper and compacted will be picked up on the regular garbage day. Other junk, such as appliances, lumber, household furniture and large bulk items will be picked up only during spring and fall pickups. (Spring pickup is in progress now.)

—Limbs and branches are to be cut in lengths of less than five feet and, if possible, tied in bundles and placed at the curb on the regular garbage collection day. Tree service firms will be responsible for disposing of any limbs and branches they cut.

Densmore emphasized special note should be taken of the ban on placing garbage in paper sacks or boxes.

"For reasons of public health and practicality, we will no longer pick up garbage in paper sacks or cardboard boxes unless those sacks and boxes are placed inside a garbage can or plastic bag," he stated.

Densmore reminded that Dixon residents are entitled to dump their own refuse free of charge at the landfill in Green River Industrial Park. Landfill hours are from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Densmore concluded by saying the strict enforcement of the regulations will go into effect Monday.

Rodino in plea for refugee aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Judiciary Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. today urged quick consideration of President Ford's $507 million aid request for Vietnamese refugees, calling it "legislation of the highest national priority." "When this country forgets its immigrant heritage and turns its back on the oppressed and homeless, we will indeed have written finis to the American dream," Rodino told the House immigration subcommittee handling the bill.

Rodino, a New Jersey Democrat, appeared before the subcommittee amid increasing signs that President Ford, a Republican, will get only partial funding for his Vietnamese refugee program. Administration officials have said the program will run out of money next week.

Rep. Paul S. Sarbanes, D-Md., a member of the subcommittee, thanked Rodino for making his rare personal statement to a subcommittee, saying it put into perspective reports that many Americans do not want the refugees in this country.

"I do not think that reflects the sentiment of the American people," Sarbanes said, "or the Congress."

Some subcommittee members said there could be action on the bill later in the day, but Chairman Joshua Eilberg, D-

Pa. would say only that he agreed the subcommittee should move as quickly as it can. Ford told a nationally broadcast news conference Tuesday night that he was encouraged by signs of support for his plan to bring the refugees to the United States for resettlement.

Ford has asked for $507 million to resettle some 135,000 South Vietnamese who are headed for the United States following the conquest of their country by the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

"I imagine the Senate would approve part of the money," Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd said. "But I personally would not approve the full amount."

The West Virginia Democrat added that Ford's request would give each Vietnamese refugee $3,000 each and "that is too much money."

Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., chairman of a House subcommittee handling the refugee bill, suggested that some aid might be appropriated on an interim basis, at least until the administration can come up with more precise figures on what is needed.

House International Relations Committee sources said $382 million would fill the immediate needs of the refugees.

Administration officials, led by Ambassador L. Dean Brown, head of the State Department's refugee task force, said Tuesday that the available money is only enough to continue the resettlement effort until next week. He put the figure at about $28 million.

Even if Congress agrees on an amount to fund the refugee program, there is considerable evidence that the action will come well after Dean's deadline.

House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., said Tuesday night the bill might get to the floor next week, but only if Eilberg's subcommittee and the full panel move in the next few days.

The Senate appears even more of an obstacle with Byrd predicting that it might take weeks to reach a final vote.

Three dead as Omaha is raked by tornadoes

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — National Guardsmen patrolled 3,400 square blocks of Omaha today to prevent looting after tornadoes that killed three persons, injured more than 100 and did millions of dollars of damage.

southern edge, sustained severe damage.

One Wentworth resident, Army Capt. William Rollins, said, "I'm wiped out. Everything is smashed to smithereens."

Another resident, Beryl Scott, said she was in her office overlooking the complex when the twister struck the building housing her apartment.

The National Weather Service said the three twisters which hit Omaha were among about a dozen which struck widespread areas of northeast Nebraska Tuesday, causing loss of livestock and substantial property damage in rural areas. No deaths were reported outside of Omaha.

After surveying the damage in Omaha from a helicopter, Gov. J. James Exon said, "It's just devastating. I've lived in tornado country all my life and I've never seen anything comparable to this for property devastation. This is certainly the biggest loss in property damage that ever has hit Nebraska."

He said at least 500 homes were destroyed and at least 1,000 severely damaged.

Acting Douglas County Coroner James Keenan identified the dead as Margaret Burke, 86; Lloyd Kramer, about 40; and Pamela Myers, 23. All were believed from Omaha.

Police said Kramer died when the roof of a northwest Omaha service station collapsed while he was standing on it watching an approaching tornado. Keenan said the Myers woman, a waitress, died when the restaurant in which she was working was struck by a tornado.

He said he did not know how the other victim died.

Storm sirens started wailing at 4:30 p.m. as a huge black cloud moved in over the city from the southwest, and the tornadoes soon touched down. Forty-five minutes later, the storm alert was over, but sections of this city of 350,000 were in shambles.

The two areas most severely damaged were a 300-square-block area in the southwest portion of the city and its southern suburbs and a 500-square-block area in northwest Omaha.

Some of the most severe damage occurred at the 848-unit Wentworth Apartments, the city's largest. About 70 per cent of the complex, which houses about 1,800 persons in suburban Ralston on the city's

Speaker explores motivations

DHS honor students feted

By ROBERT H. NELLIS

A 1967 Dixon High School graduate and candidate for a doctoral degree at the University of Iowa was speaker at the 23rd DHS Honors Banquet Tuesday and examined the motivations which lead to excellence in endeavors.

He was Patrick White, whose remarks were entitled "Excellence—Why Bother?"

Becky Shular was the senior capturing the most awards. She received four certificates indicating she was the top achiever in four study areas. They are English, foreign language, science and mathematics.

She was followed by Michael Brandys, who was a top achiever in foreign language, science and social science.

In exploring motivation which leads to excellent performance, White suggest it may be partially due to competition with fellow students; or because the family does not have much money and it will help if the student earns a scholarship.

But the speaker, who at the 1967 DHS Honors Banquet was awarded certificates for earning the top grades in English, science and social science, declared these motivations are not enough to lead to excellence.

"If I gave you money to pay for all the schooling you want for the next few years, would this motivate you to excel?" White asked the students.

He answered his query by observing there is something above competition, scholarship and family aspirations which motivates students to excel.

White asked, again, "How do you feel when you do well?"

And commented a person feels great, fine and good when they have performed well whatever task was before them.

The graduate student, who said he passed his oral examination for his doctorate in English on Friday, exclaimed men and women feel good about achieving well because they are "very human."

"A computer can work a problem faster than all of us in this room," White observed, "but after finishing the problem the computer would not say, 'That was a pretty tough problem.'"

Conversely, the speaker noted, a human being who does well in solving a difficult problem will say, "I gave me something more, challenge me."

White said the attitude to not be satisfied with current or past achievements but seeking to be challenged is a human faculty which may lead persons to excellently achieve.

"All men and women try to do something that gives variety and shows personal excellence," asserted White.

"Really great things have already been done," White related. "But I'm not so sure great people will not come from this room," he continued.

"What people gave before seems great to us, but at one time they were only high school students and sometimes went on to do great things," recalled the speaker.

"Only you can judge when you arrive. 'Only you can do great things,' White counseled the students.

"Cast a cold eye on what can be recognized as great things and recognize what is yet to do," advised the graduate student.

Casting a warning, White told the students, "Society sometimes plays us false when it says, 'That was really great, but we know that is not true, and then society may sometimes say, 'You blew that,' but we know it was quality and was the best we could do."

White asked the students to realize there are important things to be such as solve the energy problems.

"It's up to you to accept the challenge and to judge for yourself the possible terms and ignore the judgment of others," exhorted White.

The one-time DHS honor student expressed the hope, "I wish you will keep the golden chance you now have and keep the fire burning in your hearts to work for excellence."

White suggested what is the real criteria for striving for excellence may be a private matter for each one.

Citing Thomas Jefferson as one of his heroes, White recalled the Founding Father was an ambassador to France, secretary of state of the United States and vice president and President of this nation, but when he died he requested the inscription on his tomb read: Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence and of the religious freedom statute for Virginia and the father of the University of Virginia.

These were the private motivations which led that great person in our history to achieve excellence and were the criteria of what was most important to him.

Why bother, to be excellent?—Because you are very human and can be challenged to do more and achieve better tomorrow than today and yesterday.

Supt. of Schools Stanley Weber congratulated the honored students and told them, "The most certain criteria for success in college is success in high school."

He recalled White graduated in an "outstanding" class at DHS, noting the 1967 graduates achieved an outstanding academic record and produced great athletic achievements.

Weber noted White, as a member of the track team, set a record in the two-mile run and also, in addition to his academic achievement, was good in music and is a composer of music.

In 1968, as a student in the University of Chicago, White won the competition for writing the best play for the Illinois Sesquicentennial.

Mrs. Rose Wendler, who was mistress of ceremonies, when introducing White, observed this is the first time a DHS alumnus has addressed an honor banquet.

The top academic achieving Dixon High School seniors along with the speaker at the Honors Banquet held Tuesday and the presidents of the sponsoring organizations are shown above. To receive an award the seniors must be the top achievers in one of ten study areas. Tax money earning interest for county

Lee County Treasurer Sharon U. Thompson said today tax monies collected by her office are being invested at both Dixon and banks with earnings of approximately 5 1/2 per cent. Mrs. Thompson said the investment program has never been initiated by past officeholders. She estimated the program will earn the county several thousand dollars in interest.

Funds are deposited daily at Dixon National and City National banks. As of today, approximately $600,000 was on deposit, she said.

Funds being invested are those paid under real estate and personal property tax bills and will earn interest until treasurer makes the first disbursement of county tax monies.

The monies invested are those mailed in to the treasurer's office or those payments made in person at the office. Other monies paid to banks in outlying areas outside of Dixon are being held by the respective banks in non-interest bearing accounts.

Mrs. Thompson said the outlying banks are able to use the funds until the deadline date for payment in exchange for offering the collection service to taxpayers.

Suez Canal is reopened

ON THE SUEZ CANAL, Egypt (AP) — Two West German freighters today became the first commercial ships in nearly eight years to travel the Suez Canal, steaming from their prison on Great Bitter Lake to Port Said on the Mediterranean in 7 1/2 hours.

Hundreds of Egyptian workers chanted "Long live Sadat" and "Welcome to the opening of the canal" as the 10,000-ton Muensterland and the 8,000-ton Norwind stopped for the night after the 60-mile journey. They headed for Hamburg Thursday.

The two ships were part of a rusting fleet of 15 freighters stranded in the 103-mile-long waterway when the 1967 Arab-Israeli war broke out.

Their release was assured when Egyptian President Anwar Sadat announced March 29 he was reopening the canal June 5 to all but Israeli ships, despite the failure of U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's peace mission.

"I'm very happy, we all are very happy to see the ships passing," said Suez Canal Authority Chairman Mashour Ahmed Mashour in Deversoir on the northern edge of Bitter Lake. The freighters, the Muensterland in the lead and the Norwind a mile behind, entered the narrow shipping channel with the sands of Sinai as a backdrop.

Today's exercise gave authority employees a chance to test navigation and communications equipment, and pilots got the opportunity to try out in the canal the skills they have been using in other ports.

Twelve other ships stranded in the canal will be towed to Port Said at the rate of two or three a day. One American ship, the African Glen, is listing and two-thirds under water. Officials say it will remain behind in Great Bitter Lake for the time being.

The two German ships, both of the Hapag Lloyd Line, had maintained their engines during the enforced isolation.

Petunia Festival kick-off dinner scheduled May 15

The annual Petunia Festival fund-raising dinner is scheduled for May 15 at the Skyline Restaurant and Lounge.

According to John Kuster, board president, the $10-per-plate dinner tickets provide a portion of the necessary funding for pre-Festival activities and the corporation is seeking to raise in the neighborhood of $1,000 on this first event.

Kuster stated, "the annual Festival dinner has always been one of the more outstanding social events of the season, and our plans for this year promise another exciting evening. The 1975 queen and two attendants will make their first formal appearance, and we have talented entertainers to be featured in what we refer to as a 'Cabaret Variety Show.' Following the entertainment, a musical group will provide music for dancing or listening pleasure."

Tickets are available only on advanced reservations, and special seating arrangements will be made for group parties. Tickets are $10 per person and may be purchased at Festival Headquarters located in the Chamber of Commerce building. Reservations may also be made by calling 284-3361.

Financial outlook not bright

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

President Ford's Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, Alan Greenspan, warns against "an inflation that is sure to accelerate."

Mr. Greenspan asks whether a wrong-headed diversion from the immediate challenge of dealing with the worst economic drop since the Great Depression of the 1930s is not a case of jumping out of the frying pan into the fire.

He is alarmed by the first quarter decline of 10.4 per cent at an annual rate in our real gross national product. He also sees the precipitous fall in gross private domestic investment.

The stock market and business as a whole was cheered by a healthy $35.8 billion liquidation of inventories in the first quarter. The overall figure fell by $44.8 billion to $164.6 billion in the single quarter. This is an astounding 21 per cent decline.

But capital investment in plant and equipment is the seed that sprouts new prosperity. But this bellwether indicator fell $4 billion in the first quarter.

This seed of future prosperity went down like a man driven by a dark demon; cold, loveless and implacable.

Mr. Greenspan finds that new housing construction dropped $5 billion more in the first quarter. The construction industry has about $222 million in total liabilities. It is a highly fragmented business encompassing about 50,000 builders. And failures of construction firms rose more than 65 per cent last year.

Mr. Greenspan sees new unsold homes totalling about 431,000. He puts new housing starts at a seasonally adjusted 1,120,000-unit annual rate. This trails 1973 by 40 per cent. What this represents in the purchases of carpets, draperies, textiles, kitchenware, radio and TV sets and an amazing number of other things spreads throughout our economy.

There are 60 million households. Our job-supplying factories produce about 150 million various home appliances alone. Like automobiles, our No. 1 bellwether industry, new purchases of home appliances are terribly significant. And Mr. Greenspan sees the home appliance industry, along with the decisive automotive industry, in a major slump.

Mr. Greenspan expects the 8.7 per cent jobless rate to increase. This unemployment has already reached 11.5 per cent in New York City and 14.7 per cent in Buffalo—rates not experienced since the Great Depression.

In fact, you have to go all the way back to the 1948-1949 recession, and look at 27 distinct recoveries to find a recession and a high in unemployment at the same time.

Businesses usually continue to reduce capital expenditures long after the bottom of the recession. That low point is seldom seen except in hindsight; a bottom is frequently unrecognized at the time of the bottom and usually disputed when it does occur.

Moreover, many businesses can increase their low production for a long time without hiring anybody. Mechanization has extended this time lag. Also the cuts in overhead and marginal personnel persist a long time. Business failures, too, play a sad part. Many businesses cannot live through the decline.

Mr. Greenspan warns against the resurgence of inflation and, of course, with the inflation goes a resurgence of interest rates.

Behind the scenes, underneath the marble-hall, quiet stateliness, banking is an intensely competitive business. It just looks different on the surface, that's all. And it is unfair for the public to blame banks for high interest rates.

Interest is merely the rent on money. When the rent on money is high, it is the same as if the rent on houses is high. The high rate is not a cause of the inflation. It is the result of the inflation.

General Electric Chairman Reginald Jones finds that, considering the inflation, the real declines are much worse than the current-dollar figures make them appear. He sees the United States in a long, downward cycle in which recoveries will not carry through and that recessions will be deeper than heretofore.

As Mr. Greenspan sees it, the problem is to stop the reckless, overspending Congress from adding to vast antirecession outlays that are sure to make the resurgence of inflation an absolute certainty.

Great Depression caused by government

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The text of an address by Dr. Milton Friedman, Paul Snowden Russell Distinguished Service Professor of Economics, University of Chicago, delivered at Rockford College, will be printed in 10 installments. Following is the fourth installment.)

The second great myth comes many years later. It is the Great Depression myth, the myth that the Great Depression from 1929 to 1939, a catastrophe of unparalleled extent when at the bottom of the depression in 1932 or 1933, 25 per cent of the labor force was unemployed, reflected the failure of private enterprise. To digress for a moment, I may say it is appalling and shows a lack of realism when people talk about current conditions as if they were in the same ball-park as that Great Depression. That was a phenomenon of a wholly different kind. The myth I want to talk about is that the Great Depression occurred because private enterprise could not organize the society properly, that it was necessary for government to step in in order to save society, that the New Deal and all that followed was a necessary corrective to the mistakes, errors and disasters produced by the deficiencies of private enterprise and unbridled competition.

That is a myth which is also the opposite of the truth. The elementary truth is that the Great Depression was produced by government mismanagement. It was not produced by the failure of private enterprise, it was produced by the failure of government to perform a function which had been widely assigned to it. Since time immemorial, government has been granted the function, wisely or not, of controlling the monetary system. In our constitution government is given the power to coin money and determine the value thereof. The reason we had the Great Depression was because government failed in that task. In 1914 we had a supposedly great reform. I say "reform" but I would like to put that in quotes because experience shows that not all reforms are improvements. They are always called reforms but that doesn't mean that they are, in fact, improvements. In this particular case the great "reform" was the establishment of the Federal Reserve System, the establishment of a central banking system. It was established supposedly to prevent what were called banking panics.

The immediate occasion was the banking panic of 1907, when a couple of trust companies in New York, the Knickerbocker Trust and one other trust company went broke, precursors of the Franklin National Bank, except unlike the Franklin National Bank, tax money was not used to bail them out. They went broke, the public at large got fearful of the stability of banks, there were runs on banks and this led to what was called a banking panic in which the banks of the country suspended the convertibility of their deposits into currency. Banks continued to operate but you could not walk into a bank, give them a check, and have them give you currency—at that time gold or greenbacks or national bank notes. If you gave someone a check it would be stamped on the back, "payable only through the clearing house." That meant it could be deposited to his account at another bank but it could not be honored for currency unless he were a regular customer at the bank who had been accustomed to getting it for payroll purposes. That was done in order to prevent banks from failing. After about two or three months, confidence was restored in the banks, the suspension of convertibility was ended and there were almost no bank failures. At the same time, it was a very traumatic episode.

Turning 'fine print' into English

By DON OAKLEY

A long-standing target of consumer advocates has been the "fine print," the legal jargon that only a crew of Philadelphia lawyers can decipher, in insurance policies.

"According to a scientific scale of readability, the standard auto policy is actually more difficult to read and understand than Einstein's theory of relativity," says Herbert S. Dennenberg, former Pennsylvania insurance commissioner.

The target is beginning to waver. Not only consumerists but concerned spokesmen for the industry itself are coming to believe that insurance policies can, and must, be written in plain simple language. A number of companies and a number of state insurance departments have begun taking steps in that direction.

The Pennsylvania insurance department, for example, has promulgated a rule that automobile insurance policies must be "understandable to a person of average intelligence and education. Legal sounding words should be avoided."

Florida has proposed minimum, uniform readability standards for health policies, and the Illinois insurance department has asked a governor's advisory board to take up the issue of automobile policy simplification.

At the federal level, "truth in life insurance" legislation is being sponsored in Congress by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.).

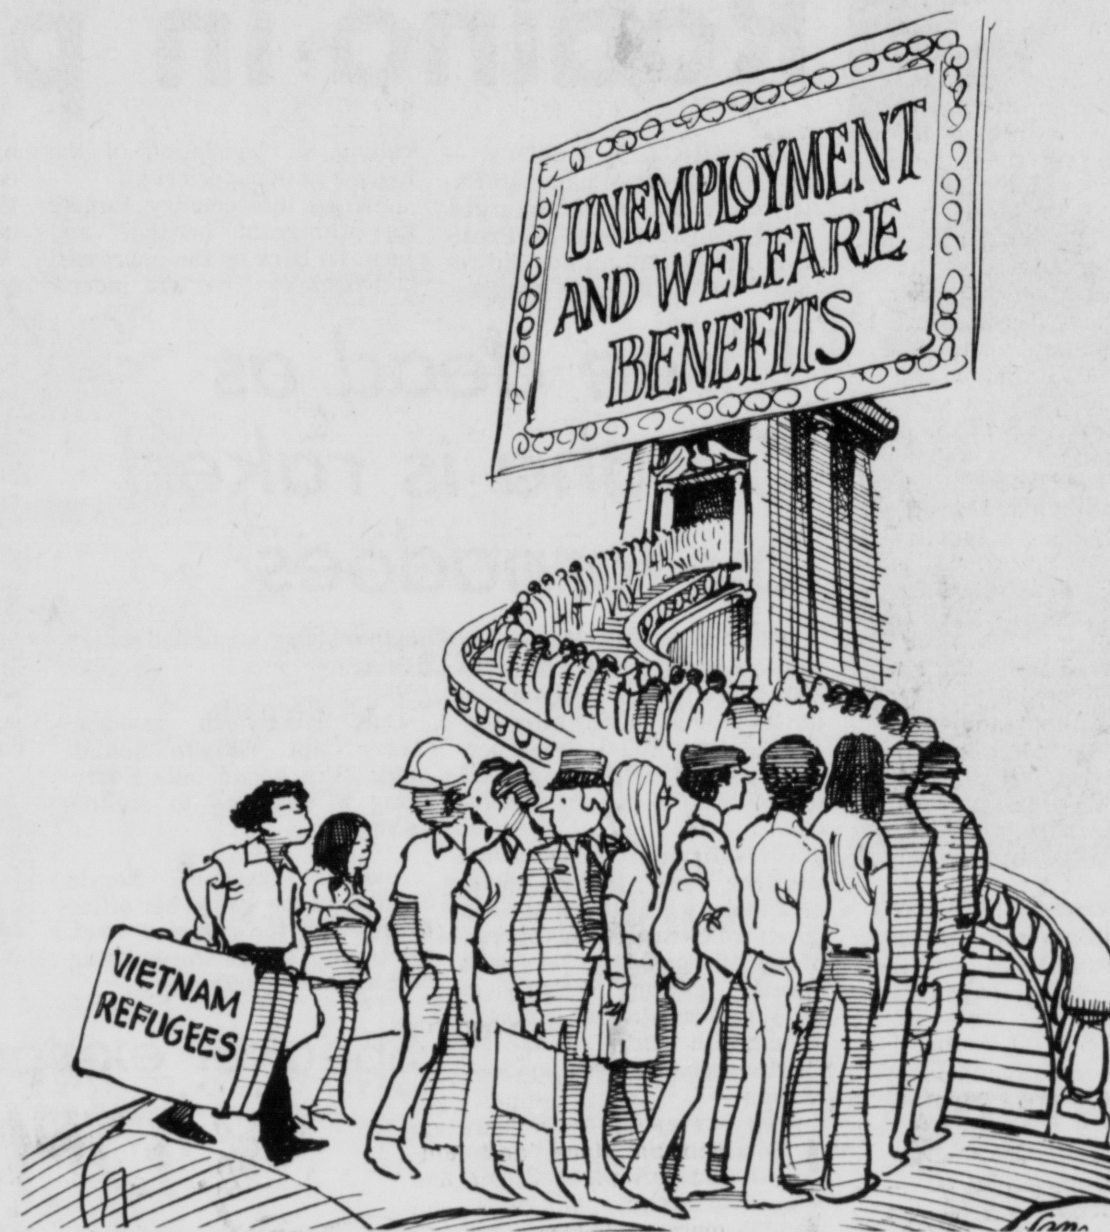

Some industry skeptics contend, however, that simplifying insurance policies is not as simple a matter as it may appear. Many parts of policies are governed by state laws and regulations, they point out. In some cases, the exact language is prescribed. If an insurance company chooses to use different language it could run into conflict with state laws and the courts might declare portions of the policy invalid.

Also, a policy is a legal contract, and over the years a body of law based on court interpretations has grown up. Legal and technical terms used in insurance policies have assumed certain fixed meanings. "Simplified" policy language can actually be harder to interpret than precise, legal terminology.

In short, they argue, if simplified policies are desired, simplified state laws and regulations may have to precede them.

Everyone agrees, however, that it should be possible to remove some of the "heretofores," "Whereases" and other legalistic gobbledygook from insurance policies and make sentences shorter without changing their meanings. This seems to be the growing trend.

Illinois Heritage Days

SPRINGFIELD—Details of the Department of Conservation's new Illinois Heritage Days program have been announced by Director Tony Dean. The program, part of the state's national bicentennial plans, is a series of more than 100 festivals, concerts, recreational outings and historic recreations, planned for the next two years at various state parks.

"Conservation is charged with the responsibility of conserving the state's natural and historic resources. We feel the best way to do that is to involve people by creating interesting and enjoyable events at parks and memorials. This is what Illinois Heritage Days are all about," Dean said.

The program consists of more than 20 major two-day events to be held on weekends, 80 one-day events and two major historic re-creations, each more than two weeks in length. It focuses on the entire spectrum of Illinois history, from the Indians before Columbus' day to the turn of the 20th century.

The Illinois Heritage Days program is organized and conducted by the Program Services Section as part of the department's natural resource and historic culture interpretive scheduling. The section recruits volunteer participants to take part in the events, coordinating with local communities and handling logistical arrangements.

One of the most popular two-day events is the Fort de Chartres Rendezvous. The fort, south of St. Louis along the Mississippi River near the village of Prairie du Rocher, was the seat of civil and military government for the French in America's interior during the 1700s. The fort was distinguished for being the first site in the New World where men and women both had the right to vote. It has been partially reconstructed, and archaeological digging continues at the site.

During the modern "Rendezvous," an authentic French colonial life and drum corps "occupies" the fort and fires the 18th century cannon, while buckskinners in authentic costume fire muskets, throw tomahawks and race 35-foot Voyacome the travelers. On July 5 the party will leave for Prairie du Rocher, and will "take" Fort de Chartres on July 9. Clark and his men will stay at Fort de Chartres during the 1766 "Rendezvous," July 10 and 11, and then continue their trek toward Cahokia, where they are scheduled to arrive July 15. On July 17 a one-day event will be held at the Cahokia Courthouse.

Lincoln's Eighth Judicial Circuit ride will take place in the area between Danville and Metamora during a two-week period. An actor representing Abraham Lincoln will ride a horse into all of the 15 major cities and towns where Lincoln practiced law during the decade before he became President. While at these sites, Lincoln will greet the people, talk about what is happening on the prairie and discuss some of his most famous court cases. In towns where the old courthouses still stand, Lincoln will take part in re-enacted trials of the period.

Dean said that Illinois is among the foremost states in the nation in terms of historic significance, and also in the existence of physical sites which epitomize or highlight cultural history.

cuit ride in September 1976, and the Illinois segment of La Salle's second expedition.

The George Rogers Clark trek was the only American Revolutionary War action which took place in Illinois. The re-creation will trace Clark's path through southern Illinois in which several British-held forts and settlements were captured "in the name of General George Washington."

Commencing with the "capture" of Fort Massac June 27, 1976, the trek will follow the original route taken by Clark, with the party arriving at Kaskaskia on July 4. On this date a one-day event will be held at the Pierre Menard Home to welgeur canoes. Colonial craftsmen demonstrate blacksmithing, wood turning and furniture making, candle making, spinning and the baking of bread in an outdoor oven.

Other popular two-day events include the Turn of the Century celebration at Siloam Springs State Park, east of Quincy, and the Jordbrukdagarna, a traditional Swedish harvest festival, at Bishop Hill State Memorial, southwest of Kewanee.

History of both sites is interesting; Siloam Springs was an exclusive health spa, with mineral springs, in the period of the late 1800s, while Bishop Hill was an agricultural commune founded in 1840 by a group of Swedish immigrants who had fled to the United States seeking religious freedom.

The one-day Illinois Heritage Days events are planned to cover a broad spectrum, including such occurrences as the Grand Levee at the old Vandalia State House. The "grand evening" was a traditional French colonial recognition of the first day of summer. The ringing of the Kaskaskia bell, which George Rogers Clark called the "Liberty Bell of the West," at Fort Kaskaskia Bell Memorial, south of Belleville, is a favorite Fourth of July tradition.

A special aspect of the Illinois Heritage Days series will come during the Christmas holiday season, when four two-day events, a one-day observance and even a Christmas-morning service are planned to help celebrate various frontier yuletide traditions.

The historic re-creations planned include the George Rogers Clark trek in June 1976, Lincoln's Eighth Judicial Cir-

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE D-651: Marjorie D., aged 34, lost her husband in an auto accident.

She was left with three little girls, ranging in age from 6 to 10.

A bachelor school teacher who lived in the next block was very helpful to Marjorie and the girls after the funeral.

For their daddy had been a good friend of this teacher.

As months passed, he often did chores for the family and once took them to a circus.

So the girls hatched up a little plot.

They decided they'd like to have him as their second daddy, so they connived on last Valentine's Day.

The 10-year-old daughter addressed one to her mother and then carefully printed the bachelor's name.

But she went a bit further on the one from her mother to the bachelor, for she neatly printed this time:

"If you'll jsut be my Valentine."

"Then I promise to be your Concubine."

Carefully the girls sealed and stamped the Valentines; then placed them in the mail.

All agog, they waited till the mailman delivered the Valentine to their mother and then danced around her as she opened it.

Their mother surmised that it wasn't the bachelor who had sent her the Valentine and soon extracted a confession from her daughters.

But when she also learned that they had sent a Valentine in her name to the bachelor, then Mamma became alarmed to know what the girls had written thereon.

And when the older daughter recited that two-line verse which she had attached thereto, Mamma was horrified.

She scolded the girls till they began to cry, especially because of that word "Concubine."

"But, Mother," the 10-year-old tearfully defended herself, "we got that word right out of the Bible so we thought it would be O.K."

"Besides, it was the only word in the Bible we could find that rimed with Valentine."

Well, Mamma felt embarrassed to the point she finally decided the girls should telephone the bachelor and confess, which they did.

But he was very fond of them, so he forgave them and invited them all to a good family movie.

While they were having ice cream sodas afterwards, they timidly admitted that they had sent the Valentines, hoping he'd fall in love with their mother and then marry her.

"For we'd like to have you for our new Daddy," they eagerly explained.

Mamma, blushed at this frank admission by her daughters, for she feared he'd think she had master-minded the whole affair.

"Girls, what does your Mamma think about your idea?" the bachelor put her on the spot.

"Oh, she likes you a lot," they chorused.

"Do you think she'd marry me if I asked her?" persisted the bachelor, as he enjoyed her blushing confusion.

The girls nodded in unison. "Please ask her," they urged, and he did, right there at the table.

"Dr. Crane," she later informed me, "what else could I do but say 'Yes?'"

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

The Doctor says:

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am a 24-year-old woman with two children. A month ago I had cancer in the right breast but no spread to the lymph nodes or anywhere else. I had a radical mastectomy anyway and recovered very fast. So, to be on the safe side the doctor did a simple mastectomy on the other breast, but there was no sign of cancer. Do they call this cured or what? And, what are my chances if I become pregnant? And the child's?

DEAR READER—If there were no cancer cells at all in the lymph nodes and you had a radical mastectomy plus removal of the other breast, I would think the chances that you will have any further problems are quite small indeed.

You should ask your doctor about this as he has had the opportunity to study the slides and knows exactly the status of the removed cancer.

Assuming your interpretation is correct, and if there are no complications over the next year, I see no reason why you couldn't have a normal pregnancy without risk to either yourself or the baby.

This might be a different situation in women with more severe problems, or who required a great deal of postoperative therapy. Every case has to be considered individually.

You are quite young to have such a problem, but your case emphasizes the importance of even young women being certain to check themselves regularly and see their doctor at least for an annual evaluation.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Whoever sent in that letter about Hoosiers not ever having to walk to school is WRONG. I walked more than two miles in all kinds of weather to a one-room schoolhouse for the first part of my second grade. This was a few years later than 1912, too. The town was Jacksonville, Ind. and we dearly loved that school.

DEAR READER—Thank you for coming to my defense. I have heard from other fellow Hoosiers who tell me that they also walked to a one-room school house. One reader said the lady must not know anything about southern Indiana.

So, I guess I am properly vindicated for saying that Adelle Davis had a reason for her diet philosophy because of her farm background in Indiana before World War II. I haven't heard anything more from the lady who thought I was a provincial New Yorker who knew nothing about the farm. Of course, she had no way of knowing that I was born and raised on a Kansas farm.

My point remains that the diet advice that was sound and important in the days before World War II is not what we need to do today. Much more of our population was rural in those days, and there was less food and more physical activity. Our softer life means we must change our living habits.

The reduction in fat and cholesterol in the diet, along with other measures seems to be doing something. Dr. Jeremiah Stamler, of Northwestern University, points out that the rate of deaths from heart attacks in men between 35 and 64 has fallen 8.7 per cent between 1968 and 1972. So, I am going to keep on pushing for sensible eating for 1970 not 1930.

Indian problems added to woes

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles on the American Revolution for the Bicentennial year prepared by the American Antiquarian Society in cooperation with the American Newspaper Publishers Association Foundation.

By DR. FRANCIS G. WALETT
Worcester State College

The year was 1763 and the frontier of the English colonies in America was aflame. All western outposts of the whites except Fort Detroit and Fort Pitt had been captured by Pontiac, the powerful Ottawa chief, or his allies.

Pontiac, whose camp was not far from Detroit, had whipped his braves into a warlike frenzy, and launched a savage attack on this strong English fort in May 1763. The whites held off the attackers, but the Indians killed a number of settlers in the surrounding area and burned outlying homes. A five months' siege followed before Detroit was relieved.

Trouble had been brewing for some time in the late stages of the French and Indian War. British occupation of French forts in western Pennsylvania and the Ohio country had brought hordes of fur traders and land speculators to the area. The whites, unmindful of official efforts to halt expansion, unmercifully cheated the natives and occupied their lands. Small wonder that violence followed.

To make matters worse, General Jeffrey Amherst, commander-in-chief of all British forces in North America, despised the Indians and advocated inhuman policies. He asked a subordinate, Colonel Henry Bouquet, if it could "not be contrived to send the Small Pox among those dissatisfied tribes?" Bouquet wrote that he would try to give the Indians germ-laden blankets; but he disliked the danger of exposing "good men against them." He would prefer, he said, "to make use of the Spanish method, to hunt them with English dogs." This, Bouquet thought, would "effectually extirpate or remove that vermin." Officers with such ideas could hardly be expected to calm Indian fears.

In 1762 Amherst took another step that added to the uneasiness of the natives. For years the French had placated the Indians with gifts of blankets, clothing, liquor, and ammunition. General Amherst discontinued this policy which made no sense to him; Indians, he said, should not be bribed to behave, but should be punished if they caused trouble. Faced with this hard-headed attitude, the western tribes became more restless and were eager to listen to agitators who promised that a French army was coming to help them drive out the "red-coated dogs."

When the Indians learned in early 1763 that France had ceded all of her territory east of the Mississippi as well as Canada to Great Britain, they were understandably dejected. A Delaware Indian religious leader or mystic, the Prophet, had been exhorting the warriors to take the warpath to regain their lost hunting grounds. And Pontiac, trying to forge some kind of confederation, urged other tribes to join him in an all-out attack on the English.

As fort after fort in the west fell before the Indian assault and considerable loss of life resulted, General Amherst had to take action. One force under Colonel James Dalyell was sent with supplies to Fort Detroit to enable the defenders to hold out. Another army led by Colonel Henry Bouquet marched into western Pennsylvania and defeated the Indians in a bloody battle at Bushy Run, thus lifting the siege of Fort Pitt.

In the fall of 1763, Pontiac abandoned the siege of Detroit and concluded a truce. He was disheartened by defeats, the desertion of Indian allies and the failure of the French to assist him. While most of the tribes attended a general peace conference held by the Indian agent, Sir William Johnson, at Niagara, some of the western natives remained restless. Two expeditions of 1764 further punished the Indians in the Ohio country; Colonel John Bradstreet marched through the area south of Lake Erie, and Bouquet led a destructive raid into the Muskingum River region. At an Indian town named Tuscarawas he forced the surrender of all captives and dictated a general peace.

The devastation of the frontier during the Pontiac uprising was extensive, especially in western Pennsylvania. And despite white victories, truces, and treaties, conditions on the frontier remained unsettled. In an effort to prevent further violence, the British government issued the Proclamation of 1763, which forbade white settlement beyond the Appalachians temporarily. Land hungry pioneers paid little attention to this proclamation and continued to move westward. The inevitable results were more border violence and disputes for years to come.

Rapp-Spencer nuptial vows are exchanged

VAN ORIN — Miss JoAnne Rapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rapp, rural Sublette, and Timothy Spencer, son of Mrs. Charles Spencer, Rochester, Minn., and the late Mr. Spencer, were married at 2 p.m. April 12 in the Van Orin Gospel Church.

The Rev. Floyd Graves, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring wedding, and following the couple's exchange of vows, the minister read the "Wedding Prayer" written by Louis H. Evans. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Karen Schammel, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street-length white dress designed with long lace sleeves. Her headpiece was a matching picture hat, and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and baby's breath tied with green ribbons.

Miss Beverly Willbourn, Rochester, who attended the bride as maid of honor, wore a mint-green costume and she carried a single long-stemmed yellow rose. Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother, Joseph Spencer, Rochester.

The ceremony was followed by a reception and buffet dinner in the home of the bride's parents attended by 50 relatives and friends, who were registered by Miss Kimberly Schammel. A three-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Rex Stanley, and punch and coffee were poured by Mrs. Pamela Rapp and Mrs. Joyce Arteaga. Also assisting at the buffet table was Mrs. Shirley Henrich.

During the reception, the bride's brother, Charles Rapp, telephoned the bride and bridegroom from Naples, Italy, where he is stationed with the Navy.

Since their honeymoon, spent at Wisconsin Dells, Wis., the newlyweds have been living in Rochester, Minn., where both are employed at Methodist Hospital.

Correct play takes analysis

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The "C" in ARCH stands for Count your winners and losers. Sometimes the total doesn't come to 13. Thus you can count 11 winners after the spade opening. Two in spades and three in each other suit. The three in clubs come from the "R" for Review the bidding which marks East with the queen of that suit as part of his opening bid.

When you count losers you are looking at two aces and three spades for a total of five losers. This makes a total of 16 tricks. A further study shows that if you win the first trick with your ace of spades over East's king you will knock out one of East's aces. He will lead back a spade. West will let you win that trick. Then when you knock out the other ace, the three spade tricks will be taken against you before you can score your own tricks.

Now you come to the "H" or How can I make this hand?

The answer is you can make it by changing your count of both winners and losers. Obviously, when you analyze the lead you assume that West has led fourth best of a five-card suit headed by the king or queen. Your Review of the bidding marks East with both aces. Thus, you let East hold the first spade and West the second one. Now the defense has two spade tricks, but can't get a third. You have time to knock out both aces and make your contract. 7 (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Grange to meet

MT. MORRIS—Blackhawk Grange No. 1822 will hold the regular meeting Thursday, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Andrew Buhs, Chaplain, will conduct the memorial program. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Zipse and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher will serve refreshments at the social hour.

Open house for 50th anniversary

MR. AND MRS. LESLIE R. SMITH SR.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie R. Smith Sr., 1006 W. First St., Dixon, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house planned for 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday in the Dixon Elks Club.

The former Miss Rosalind Knapp and Mr. Smith were married May 9, 1925 in St. Patrick's Catholic Church by the Rev. Michael Foley, and they were attended by Sophie Miller and George Farley.

The Smiths are parents of three children, Mrs. William (Rachel) Kirk and Mrs. Lyle (Roseann) Heinzeroth, both of Dixon, and Leslie Smith Jr., deceased. They also have nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Smith was an employee of the Freeman Shoe Company prior to his retirement in 1972, and Mrs. Smith is employed at Dixon State School as a foster-grandmother.

Friends and relatives of the honored couple are invited to attend the open house, which will be hosted by their daughters, and the omission of gifts is requested.

Dear Ann by Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for nearly two years. He is four years my junior but no one would know it unless somebody told. I have a good figure and keep myself in shape. This is a second marriage for both of us.

The problem is that Jack is extremely handsome and has a way of attracting every female in the place—no matter where we are. It's amazing how brazen some women can be. Time after time I have stood at his side (or within hearing distance) and listened to women gush over Jack and tell him how good looking he is, how charming, how sexy—etc. You wouldn't believe some of the dumb things that come out of their mouths. (Most of these women are married.)

What should I say to them?—At A Loss For Words

Dear Loss: Nothing. They aren't talking to you.

Dear Ann Landers: Frequently you plead for compassion for the lonely people in the world. I realize you are trying to generate sympathy and understanding, Ann, but there's a reason for everything. I wonder if you will have the courage to print this letter, which may do a lot more good than your sympathy.

Although this man has had a wife for 30 years (me) and three fine children, he is the loneliest person in town. He is sour, sullen and makes no effort whatever to extend himself. When someone reaches out to him, he's a million miles away. Everything bounces off.

I have yet to hear him give a compliment. He's always the first one with the bad news. Of course he is infallible, never made a mistake in his entire life. His only pleasure seems to be pointing out the mistakes of others. If he gets into an argument he will turn the library upside down to prove he is right. Of course he doesn't have a friend in the world. His children tolerate him but there is no love. As for me, I'm stuck.

So when people tell you how lonely they are, just remember, there's a reason for everything. Sign Me—No Mystery Here

Dear No: Too bad you two didn't get some counseling years ago. Your marriage sounds like a disaster, your home an armed camp, and I feel very sorry for all of you.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the woman who thinks she has a problem because her husband doesn't put down the toilet seat. If this is the worst thing the poor girl has to contend with in her life, she should consider herself lucky.

I am 33, hitched for the second time, and couldn't be happier. When Lee and I married I became the instant mother of his three sons. Not one of the four puts down the toilet seat and I couldn't care less.

The reason there are so many ulcer patients, migraine headache sufferers and just plain misery in the world is that people don't know what's important enough to get upset over. I learned and found—Peace

Dear Peace: Isn't it beautiful?

Confidential to Money Talks: Sorry, I don't buy your approach. If money talks, it should be apologizing for being in short supply at a time when most people need it so desperately.

"Ruth's Night" was observed recently in the Masonic Temple by Dorothy Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star when members who have served as "Ruth" were honored.

Presiding were Mrs. Tracey Stinson, worthy matron, and Jean Stinson, worthy patron. Serving as pro tem officers were Mrs. Lucille Peacock, conductress; Mrs. Flora Stitzel, treasurer; Mrs. Lynne Devers, Adah, and Mrs. Grace Freed, color bearer.

Mrs. Florence Bastion, a former "Ruth," was escorted to the East as guest of honor, and was presented a corsage of yellow roses. Also honored was Mrs. Luella Gradner, a 50-year OES member.

Others introduced as former "Ruths" were Mrs. Nadine Stein, Mrs. Rachel Stewart, Mrs. Fred, Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. Vera Durso, Mrs. Frances Swarts, Mrs. Irma Ommen, Mrs. Ada Huyett, Mrs. Nadine Moats, Mrs. Jane Leeper, Mrs. Peacock, Mrs. Marjorie Bennett and the present "Ruth," Lorraine Heckman. Each one was presented a yellow rose by Miss Grace Crawford.

The history of "Ruth" was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Stinson, and seven additional officers, and Mrs. Bastian described a number of her experiences during her 53 years as an OES member.

The birthdays of Mrs. Nada Burket, Mrs. Alberta Wilk, Mrs. Swarts and Mrs. Gardner were observed, and an observance of "Advance Night" was announced for May 16.

A social hour following the meeting included refreshments served by Mr. and Mrs. Vern Tennant, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Stein, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Peacock.

The tables arranged in the temple dining hall were covered with yellow cloths and held centerpieces of yellow flowers and candles.

Polly's Pointers

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—My small son smeared petroleum jelly all over a cotton bedspread. Washing didn't help. What can I do? Also how do I remove chewing gum from a carpet? Any tips will be appreciated.—PEGG

DEAR PEGG—I hope the washing has not set the stains in your bedspread. The usual treatment for removing petroleum jelly stains from washable fabric is to sponge it with cleaning fluid or let the spots soak in the fluid. When spots are removed wash in warm suds and rinse as usual.

Rub the chewing gum with ice until it "balls up" and then gently remove as much as possible. Egg white (test its effect on your carpet) will often soften gum. After bulk of gum is removed sponge with cleaning fluid and let it stand three or four minutes. Lift remainder of gum off with a dull knife. Do be careful as too much soaking might penetrate to the backing.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the auto manufacturers who have discontinued the use of window vents in cars. Those vents permitted one to get fresh air without drafts.—MRS. J.J.S.

DEAR POLLY—I like to keep several kinds of bread on hand to please all members of the family. To avoid the waste of having it dry out I keep the bread in my freezer and remove only the slices needed. If I need a few slices thawed in a hurry I have discovered that placing the bread on a cake rack over a pan of hot water warms the bread through without drying it out as it does when put in the oven. This is also a good way to warm dry hot dog buns.—GLADYS

DEAR GLADYS—Your Pointer brought to mind that TV commercial sponsored by a famous chain of hamburger stores that always reminds us that their buns are steamed.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Set those squeeze plastic tubes of hand cream, face cream, toothpaste, etc., on the TOP end when not in use. I set mine up in a corner of a box that is the right depth to hold the tubes upright and erect. This allows the last bit of the contents to work down to the end that opens. You will get several more "helpings" or uses out of the tube long after you think it is entirely empty.—IRENE W.

DEAR POLLY—The instructions that come with those miracle hand clothes brushes tell you to brush in the opposite direction in order to remove the lint. I have found that a much better way is to wet the hand and pass the brush over it in the opposite direction from that in which you usually brush your clothes. Rinse your hand, repeat, remove the lint that has collected at the edge of the brush. It is then lint free and ready to use again.—GLENNA. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

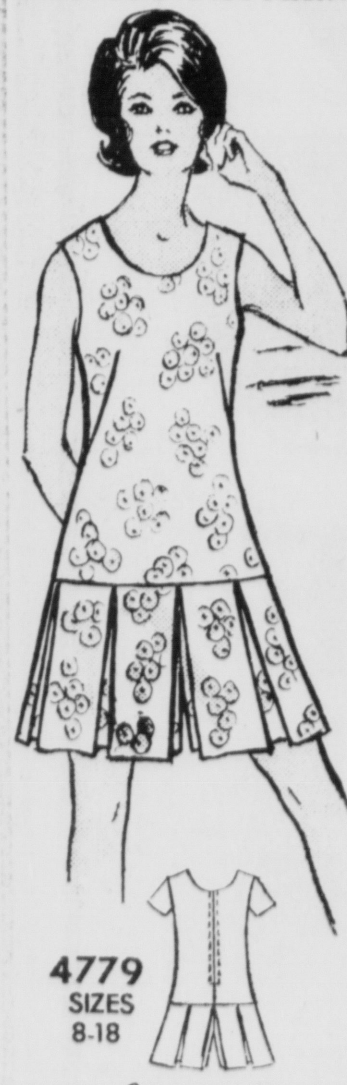

Parlor Club luncheon and card party

Members of the OES Parlor Club met Monday afternoon in the Masonic Temple when a card party was preceded by a dessert luncheon served by the afternoon's hostess, Mrs. Raymond Schulte.

Bridge winners were Mrs. Grover Hoberg, first, and Mrs. Stuart Allwood, second; winners in canasta were Mrs. Stanley Treudt, first, and Mrs. Robbie Waters, second.

The next club party was planned for 12:45 p.m. May 19 in the temple.

Bernice Bede Osol
For Thursday, May 8, 1975
ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You're going to have to try a different approach to a problem facing you. A temporary solution is better than marking time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
You will be a very slow starter today. To get off dead center, you'll need motivation. Think about those obligations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Your movements today could be restricted because you lack resources. Use ingenuity. You'll find ways to get out of the box.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
If your approach is too obvious concerning your ambitions, you're going to create resentment. Be subtle to succeed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Don't hesitate to ask advice on how to solve a complicated problem today. No one will think less of you. They'll be pleased you asked.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You'll run into a stone wall in negotiations today. An alternate plan you'll devise will break the deadlock.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
An intensive selling job will be necessary to get your point across to one whose help is vital. Don't hold back details.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
A project you were hoping to complete today must be shelved. You don't have the proper tools so turn to something else.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You're not as lucky in your dealings today as yesterday. Don't take chances on anything sight-unseen and don't gamble.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Your mate will not be in accord with your ideas on a family matter. You may have to take the initiative to realize what's good for all.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Being overbearing with subordinates today will only serve to defeat you. You'll get nowhere by goading them. Charm works wonders.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Before buying anything today, comparison-shop. It may take extra time, but a healthier purse will result.

You will be given greater responsibility this year where your work or career is concerned.

production employees at the giant Caterpillar Tractor Co. foundry here.

The unusual safety program began in late March, and aims at correcting mistakes by new workers before they result in an industrial accident.

Readily identifiable by the red armband, the new employee can be told by an experienced worker he's doing something wrong.

"We did discuss the possible psychological reaction to being singled out on the part of new employees," said Robert Keller, plant safety manager. "But we felt that the safety benefits offset any potential problem like that."

"It should help us in cutting down the number of injuries due to ignorance," said Keller.

Robert Belknap, a National Safety Council official, said that the program is not the first of its kind in industry, but "it's not the type of program which is generally accepted or used, to the best of my knowledge."

The NSC estimates that there were 2.4 million disabling injuries in the United States as a result of industrial accidents last year, with 13,500 lives lost.

"We have in the course of various surveys found that new employees were more accident prone because they aren't as familiar with the work," said Bob Waterbury, an NSC spokesman. "The program sounds logical."

Keller said the program was suggested by a plant employee who had a relative working at a strip mine, where new miners were required to wear distinctive hard hats.

"It does make it a lot easier for any employee to go up to a guy or gal with a red armband and explain something to them, offer to help them," said Keller.

"Whereas if you do it to a real experienced employee basically you are giving the impression of harassing them or criticizing and so on," he said.

Keller said he thinks that at any given time between 30 and 40 of the foundry's 3,400 employees will be wearing the bands. They must be worn by a new employee for 30 days.

The same way your Telegraph carrier feels if you don't pay on time.

Your Telegraph carrier has a job to do, and he deserves to be paid promptly.

Each Telegraph carrier pays for his papers whether or not you pay him. If you're late with your payment, your carrier will have to dig into his own pocket to pay for your paper. Keep him in business, and he'll keep you in papers.

Remember your Telegraph carrier likes that secure payday feeling as well as you do. Please pay him when he comes to collect.

Barbecued back ribs offer tasty fare either for a cookout or prepared in the oven. True back ribs are from the loin portion of the pork and should be distinguished from what are termed "country ribs" containing a high percentage of bone because the chine is not removed.

Whether baked in the oven or over an outdoor fire, the ribs should be cooked slowly. Allow at least a half-pound per person. I did 2 slabs, weighing about 2 1/4 pounds in the oven to serve 4 people, in this fashion.

Wash ribs and wipe dry. Sprinkle with salt and pepper on both sides. Place on a rack and put into a pre-heated 300 degree oven for 1 hour, turning after half the time.

Meantime prepare this barbecue sauce which I recommend highly for any pork dish. In a small saucepan blend 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, 1/2 cup finely chopped onion, 1/2 cup catsup, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, and a few grinds of black pepper. Bring mixture to boil stage, then reduce heat and simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from heat.

When ribs have cooked for an hour, begin brushing with the sauce and continue to cook for another hour, turning each 15 minutes and basting with sauce. Test for doneness with a fork. The ribs will be a beautiful dark brown when finished. Cut ribs and serve.

Here's an interesting beet dish which we find a pleasant change. Heat contents of a 16-ounce can of small whole beets in a saucepan, adding 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard and 1/4 teaspoon salt. When beets are heated through, drain.

Add 1 1/2 tablespoons butter and toss beets gently to coat. Keep warm. Stir 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish into 1/2 cup dairy sour cream and spoon this over the beets just before serving. Enough for 4.

And since it's the season, here's an excellent strawberry and rhubarb sauce. Clean about 1 1/2 pounds rhubarb and cut into 1-inch pieces (about 4 cups). Place rhubarb in a saucepan with 1/2 cup water, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 3/4 cup sugar. Cover and simmer until tender, about 10 minutes. Stir gently once or twice. Just before removing from heat, add 1 pint cleaned and hulled strawberries.

Services of mountain medicine man in demand

By STRAT DOUTHAT
Associated Press Writer
GLENWOOD, W.Va. (AP) — Clarence "Catfish" Gray quit school in the fourth grade and lives on the basement of an unfinished house some three miles from this tiny Ohio River community.

Despite his remote location and lack of formal education, he has become one of the most sought-out residents in these parts.

Catfish is a mountain medicine man who says he firmly believes things such as ginseng, bloodroot and pipsissawa will cure what ails you.

Each month, he receives dozens of cards and letters from people who want his healing herbs. Although he laughingly calls his basement "my groundhog hole," hardly a day goes by that he isn't visited by someone who's plagued with problems that prescriptions haven't solved.

Regardless of the ailment — be it cancer, gallstones, goiters or freckles — Catfish claims he has a cure.

"Most things I can cure with my bitters, a combination of 15 herbs," he tells visitors, who are welcome at any hour of the day or night.

A small, smiling, nonstop talker, Catfish loves the woods where he gathers his roots and flowers. But even more, he loves people.

Visitors inevitably are greeted with a big smile and a glass of cold sassafras tea — and perhaps a handful of chestnuts, "the old-fashioned kind."

Special guests are offered a sip of his cancer medicine, a black liquid that tastes a little like licorice and is dispensed from a refrigerated mayonnaise jar.

"It cured the man in the next house down the road," he said, carefully resealing the lid. "He had a cancer burning out on his back. His mother died of cancer, and he had had two of them cut out but my medicine cured this one in no time. He came over later and gave me $6."

His home is divided into three rooms. One is for drying the herbs, another is for sorting and grinding and the third is for display.

"They're a quarter a bag or five bags for a dollar," he said, pointing to the neatly packaged piles of bitters, his specialty. "I don't try to make much money."

An aroma of mint fills the air. The walls are covered with hand lettered Scriptures from the New Testament and with hundreds of letters from friends and satisfied customers. They bear postmarks from across the nation and many are addressed simply to "Catfish."

Another two boxes full of unanswered requests are on the floor.

"I really don't have time to keep up with all these," he said, giving a little chuckle. "I go out into the woods three days a week and it takes time for the drying and sorting."

Although he never locks his door and has a thousand friends, not everybody looks favorably upon his herbs and mail order business, including local doctors.

Catfish's bitters, which he said he sells without a label to avoid a hassle from postal authorities, contain a combination of bloodroot, snake root, yellow root, yarrow root, sassafras bark, wild cherry bark, pipsissawa and solomon seed, among others. He claims they can cure bursitis, high blood pressure, neuritis, arthritis, kidney and gall stones "and two-thirds of heart trouble."

He treats insomnia with lobelia, impotency with baking soda — one teaspoon in a eight-ounce glass of water each night — and says a concoction of tansy and buttermilk will fade your freckles.

Catfish attends church three times a week. He never touches alcohol, tobacco or prescription drugs and frequently quotes the Scriptures he has written on his walls.

A man who practices what he preaches, he doesn't partake of soft drinks or foods that contain preservatives. He eats only one meal a day and says his diet consists mainly of milk and honey, with an occasional foraged delicacy such as dandelion roots or hickory nuts.

Open house at Sinnissippi Mental Health Center May 18

Bruce Warner, president of the board of directors, announced today that Sinnissippi Mental Health Center will be holding an open house for all residents of Carroll, Lee, Ogle, and Whiteside Counties. The event is scheduled for May 18 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Center located on Ill. 2, the Dixon-Sterling Freeway.

The open house will provide the public an opportunity to view the recently completed addition to center facilities and to acquaint themselves with center services. Tours of the building, refreshments, and various educational presentations will be provided.

Al Graff, director, stated, "The center has now served the four counties for better than eight years with a phenomenal record of growth in the utilization of service and expansion of programs. This has made necessary the construction of additional space, which the center leases."

During this period, approximately one out of every 20 residents has been admitted to center services, not including other family members who may significantly be involved in treatment. Current caseloads are running about 3,500 served annually.

In addition to services available at the facility, many other outreach activities are being provided. Among these are included home visits, resocialization groups, hospital evaluations, detoxification services, program development, consultation and seminars with other health related agencies and groups.

The center initially began as an outpatient facility providing evaluation and treatment services. In addition to these program components the center has expanded over time to include a 24-hour emergency service, services for alcoholism and drug abuse, a program for the severely mentally ill, and educational and consultation services to allied professional groups.

The center is currently operating on an annual budget of $533,000. Financial support is provided by each of the county boards, an annual grant from the Illinois Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, fees, and other income.

According to August Hanke, chairman of the center's education and public relations committee, May has been designated nationally as Mental Health Month. The center has planned its open house to coincide with this month of emphasis and in cooperation with the mental health associations of each county. Persons attending this event will have an opportunity to acquaint themselves with current major mental health priorities and needs.

Safety reminder by power firm

With the beginning of the spring construction season, Commonwealth Edison Company is calling attention to the need for safety in the operation of heavy machinery near overhead power lines and underground electric facilities.

"Serious accidents involving workers, their equipment and the public can result if care is not taken to avoid contacts or interference with these facilities," H. W. (Deke) Donaldson, of Edison's Dixon-Sterling District headquarters, warned.

Donaldson noted that rules covering the operation of excavating machinery, cranes, scaffolding, ladders, hoists and similar equipment near overhead power lines are covered in the Illinois health and safety act, and that equal precautions should be taken during construction work near underground lines. The same safety guidelines should apply to the operation of ferris wheels and other high elevation rides at outdoor amusement locations; trenching equipment; the moving of houses, buildings or grain bins, and the installation of television antennae, he explained.

Donaldson urged approximately 300 public officials, contractors and other Dixon-Sterling area employers using heavy machinery to caution their employees periodically about the hazards.

He added that Edison employees are ready to point out the location of overhead and underground electric facilities before construction work is undertaken in streets, alleys or other locations.

Program for fishermen May 14 at Sauk Valley

A special program entitled "An Evening for the Fisherman" is being sponsored at 7:30 p.m. May 14 in the Little Theatre at Sauk Valley College.

The program, which is open to all area residents free of charge, is being sponsored through the college's office of community services according to Community Service Director James Barber.

Barber said the activity will include the showing of a bass fishing film prepared by Rex Grady, operator of the Lake Shore Resort in Bronson, Mo. The 16mm color film, which runs for 23 minutes, offers an instructive, how-to-do-it approach to bass fishing with live and plastic worms.

Another feature of the program is a second film entitled, "Coho Craze," a film developed by the Joseph Schlitz Brewing Company Film Library. Barber said "Coho Craze" offers an exciting insight into the growing sport of fishing for Coho Salmon in the Great Lakes.

A final feature for the evening's program will be a lecture-demonstration of Zebco fishing tackle by Jack Palmer, a field tester with the Zebco Corporation. Palmer, who has taught fishing seminars and classes in the Chicago area, is a former president of the Isaac Walton League.

His demonstration will include the use and selection of rods, reels, lines, and baits. He will also discuss the procedure for locating fish and will discuss different aspects of both salt and fresh water fishing.

Pictured above is Rex Grady, a bass fishing expert and resort operator, whose film will be highlighted in the "An Evening for the Fisherman" program, May 14 at Sauk Valley College.

Consumer survival—Part 2

Proper selection and care of clothes means savings

"Consumer Survival Kit" was adapted by John Dorfman from a weekly television series by the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting. The 30-minute programs appear weekly on 240 public broadcasting stations and offer tactics and techniques for the dollar-conscious consumer. The following column is an excerpt from a chapter of "Consumer Survival Kit," Praeger Publishers. Dorfman is a freelance writer and a former editor at "Consumer Reports." s.)

(Second of four columns)
By JOHN DORFMAN

The average American spends nearly $300 a year on clothing. Is the money well spent? Not always. In the never ending war between restraint and impulse, the frequent victor is impulse. Too often, consumers pay for merchandise of poor quality. And sometimes money spent on clothing simply disappears down the drain — of the washing machine.

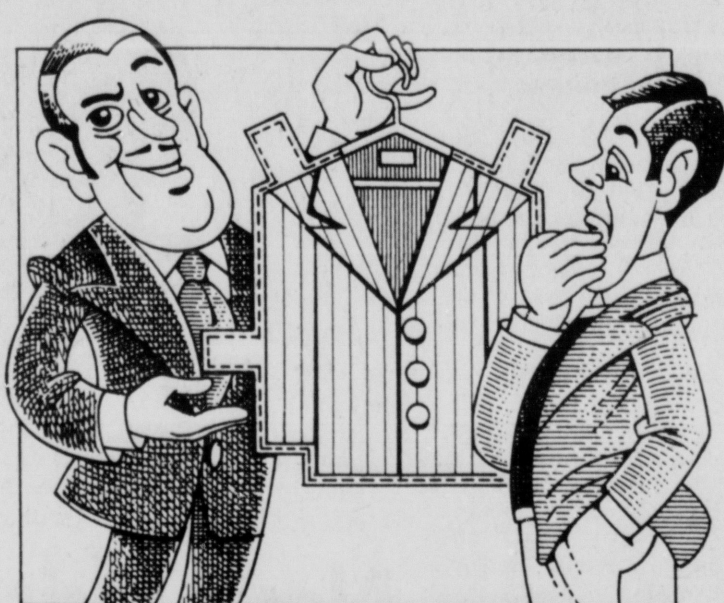

One thing you've probably noticed from reading labels in stores is that very few garments are made of 100 per cent anything these days. That doesn't mean a basic knowledge of fibers isn't helpful. But it does explain why consumers were somewhat at a loss as to how to care for garments wisely in the absence of specific care instructions. Now, thanks to permanent care labels, those instructions are available. So, unless you have a taste for throwing money away, read the care labels and follow their suggestions.

Immediate and effective stain removal is important for clothing care. Some stains will dissolve in water but not in cleaning fluid, others in cleaning fluid but not in water. For instance, sugar dissolves in water but is totally unaffected by cleaning fluid. Tar dissolves in cleaning fluid but is unaffected by water, according to the International Fabricare Institute. Some stains like lipstick, are complex and need both water and cleaning fluid to dissolve them.

When you're coming to the rescue of a stained garment in distress time is of the essence. A stain that goes untreated can become permanent — especially if it gets exposed to heat (as in a dryer).

If the stains are extensive, the garment expensive or the fabric fragile you might be wise to take it to a dry cleaner. It's rare that the cost of cleaning a garment professionally once or twice will exceed the cost of replacing the garment. If it should happen that a professional cleaner ruins a garment of yours, though, don't simply shrug it off. Ask him to reimburse you. If he declines, take the matter up with the Better Business Bureau in your area.

Another way of saving on clothes that deserves some discussion is making a careful selection, so you won't be stuck with a garment that you really don't want to wear very often. If you are weak in this area, have a friend or spouse join you in shopping for clothes. A second opinion may help you avert a mistake. Pick out two or three colors in which you look good and feel at home. Then try to coordinate your wardrobe around those colors.

Whether you're buying for a child, man or woman, certain signs will help you recognize good workmanship in clothes. Where the fabric is decorated with a pattern, that pattern should be continuous even where the garment isn't. With a sports-jacket, for example buttoning the center button should be analogous to completing a jigsaw puzzle — the pattern should fit together perfectly. Pockets should be full and sturdy. Hems on dresses should be neatly stitched, with enough material provided for lengthening as required. Seams on sleeves should be single, not double, and should run along the inside of the arm.

Perhaps the most important indicator of workmanship is the appearance of the seams. They should be completely and evenly sewn, not loose or ragged. There should be an adequate amount of material inside the garment at most seams so that the garment can be let out if the buyer needs a little bit of extra room.

Shoes are a vital part of everyone's wardrobe, both financially and in terms of health. You may think you can't afford to spend the time, money and effort necessary to find the right shoes. But you really can't afford not to. The wrong shoes can cause serious damage to your feet.

It takes about 20 years for a foot to develop completely, with all of its 26 bones in the right places. That's why parents should be very careful about the shoes — and the socks — their children wear. The wrong shoes can deform a child's foot for life. Socks that are too small are almost as harmful.

When you go to buy shoes for yourself or for a child, you can save yourself a lot of woe by looking at the old ones in the closet. Watch for certain telltale signs. Look first at the inside, in the toe area. If the lining is rubbed and chafed, it's a sign the shoe was too small. If it's rubbed just above the toe line, that's even worse — it means the shoe was much too short and the wearer's toes curled up in an effort to take up less room. If seams are broken, that's another indication a shoe was too short. On the other hand, if a shoe's toes are noticeably curled up, that's a sign the shoe was too long.

Learning from your old shoes is all the more important because many shoe salespeople don't have extensive training. With the growing emphasis on high-volume sales, some shoe store and departments are very nearly in the self-service category.

From a health standpoint the platform shoe represents a new depth, according to many podiatrists. They have reported a rash of foot injuries directly attributable to platform shoes. A close look at the shoe shows why. Normally when you walk your foot flexes. A thick platform makes the shoe rigid. It doesn't allow foot muscles to bend at all. The strain of walking then has to be absorbed by other parts of the body not designed for that function, like the hips and ankles. This increases the danger of falling. When a fall occurs, the pressure on the anklebone is similar to that of a skiing fall.

Platforms with no backs require a special balancing act. In order to keep the heel where it belongs, the hips are thrust forward, causing a swayback effect. That's not only unattractive, it causes pulled muscles. The greatest danger, though, is driving in platform shoes. National Safety Council studies have shown that the thick platform soles make it very difficult to distinguish between the accelerator and the brake. If you must wear platforms, it's a good idea to keep a pair of driving shoes in your car.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

Defeated by a single vote in the First Continental Congress on Sept. 28, 1774, Joseph Galloway's Plan of Union proposed solving the problem of home rule by giving the American colonies something approaching dominion status. An important feature of the plan was that the colonial government would have authority to regulate commercial, civil, criminal, and police affairs when more than a single colony was involved. The World Almanac notes that the proposed government would have had veto power over Parliamentary legislation affecting the colonies.

WIN SIX DRAWS FOR A MILLION DOLLARS AND CORRAL YOURSELF A NEW CAR IN THE LOTTERY'S "SPRING STAMPEDE!"

It's a free new bonus game!
Here's another chance for the wheel of fortune to turn your way. Because the Illinois State Lottery is going to give away plenty of "wheels" every week for five weeks starting May 15th. During our free new bonus game, "Spring Stampede," you can win a $5,000 sports car, a $4,000 compact or a $3,000 sub-compact each week!

In addition to the chance to win a car, your "Spring Stampede" stub also gives you a shot at a sensational grand prize to be awarded at the end of the bonus game. On June 14, preceding the Grand Slam Winner's Circle Drawing at Arlington Park Race Track, there'll be a special "Showdown" drawing to see who qualifies for a chance to win entry into six Millionaire Drawings in the regular Lottery!

How you can win a car.
Every Thursday, for five weeks (May 15-June 12), three automobile colors (green, pumpkin and black) will be randomly selected along with a six-digit "Spring Stampede" number.

Spring Stampede ticket stubs matching Stampede Number and first car color drawn win a $5,000 sports car.

Spring Stampede ticket stubs matching Stampede Number and second car color drawn win a $4,000 compact car.

Spring Stampede ticket stubs matching Stampede Number and third car color drawn win a $3,000 sub-compact car.

How you can win six draws for a million dollars.
On June 14, a special "Showdown" five-digit number and a drawing date (5/15, 5/22, 5/29, 6/5 or 6/12) will be drawn.

Spring Stampede ticket stubs matching "Showdown" Number and date drawn qualify for the big draw later, for prizes of $1,000, $2,500, $5,000 and the big one... entry into six Millionaire Drawings in the regular Lottery.

Remember, that means six chances to win a million dollars — plus six chances to win $100,000 — plus forty-eight chances to win $10,000. And, like all Millionaire finalists, you'll receive a minimum cash prize of $1,500 at each drawing.

Spring Stampede ticket stubs matching "Showdown" Number and any of other four drawing dates... win $250.

The regular Lottery continues as usual, of course, with three big games and thousands of prizes every week. Lottery tickets with "Spring Stampede" bonus stubs go on sale May 6. So play both games — for the price of the regular Lottery alone — and remember to save those stubs for the big Showdown drawing.

There'll be a stampede of free new cars this spring. Corral yourself one!

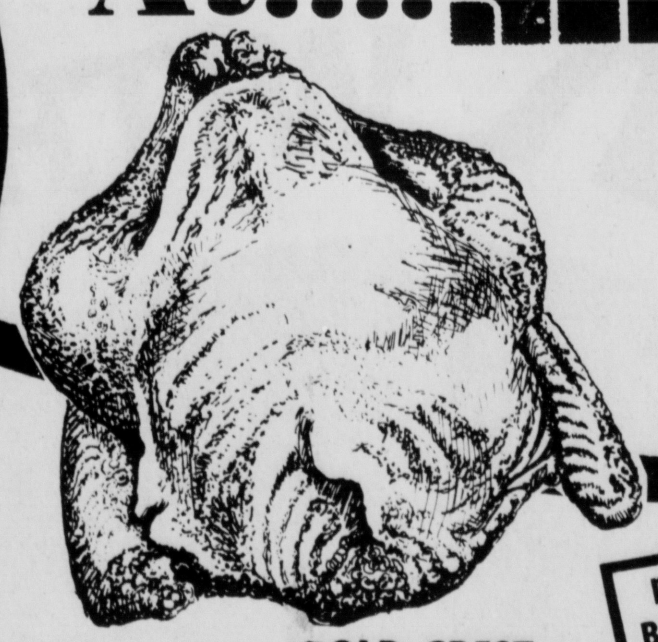

Spring Stampede tickets on sale May 6.

*Eligibility for entry into subsequent Millionaire drawings terminates if you win the $1,000,000 prize.

Watch Lottery drawings live on WGN-TV—every Thursday, 7:00 P.M.

WALNUT—Joe Gibson cracked two home runs including a grand slam to drive in five runs as the Walnut Blue Raiders pounded Elmwood 11-1 in a high school game shortened by the 10-run rule, here, Tuesday.
Gibson was also the winning pitcher, giving up only one hit in his stint. The safety by Tom Van Norman cost Gibson a shutout as Art Swindler scored on the hit in the first inning. Walnut came back with a pair of runs in the bottom of the frame as Gibson poled a home run and Ken Wilcoxen scored on a wild pitch after he singled and moved up on a single by Kevin Rabe.
The Blue Raiders got four runs in the second as Doug Parker walked, Dan Smith singled and Dennis Smith got a free pass. Gibson followed with his second homer of the contest. Walnut added five in the third as Paul Davis reached on an error and Jim Ganschow singled.
Gary Marit's triple chased two runs across the plate and Marit then scored on a Dan Smith single. Dennis Smith doubled for an RBI and then scored on a wild pitch for the fifth run. Gibson struck out eight and walked two in notching his second victory against one loss.

The Dukes also took a pair of the relay events as Mike James, Mike LeBlanc, Muller and Vince Melendrez won the 880 in 1:35.6, with Greg Weigle, LeBlanc, James and Wakeley combining their talents for a 440 victory.

James was second in the 100 and third in the 220, while Mullery was fourth in the 100 and Melendrez likewise in the 220. Louie Apple and Doug Stouffer finished 2-3 in the mile behind Princeton's John Timberlake, who also won the 880. Weigle and Eric Lohse were 2-3 in the 880.

Bob Pinegar added fourths in the shot and discus. No pole vaulter, either varsity or froshoph, made opening height against the wind.

Phillies get Dick Allen

ATLANTA (AP)—The Atlanta Braves today traded slugger Dick Allen and catcher Johnny Oates to the Philadelphia Phillies for three young players and cash.
Allen, the American League home run champion last year with the Chicago White Sox, had refused to play in Atlanta but had expressed an interest in playing again for the Phillies.
"The deal is satisfactory in view of the fact Allen did not want to play in Atlanta," said Braves Vice President Eddie Robinson.
In return for the rights to Allen, the Phillies dealt No. 1 draft pick Barry Bonnell to the Braves, along with catcher Jim Essian. The deal also included a Phillies minor league player to be named at the end of the season.
Bonnell was the top choice in last January's free agent draft. The outfielder hit .350 for Ohio State last season and currently is playing in Spartanburg in the Philadelphia farm system.
Essian hit .282 last season for Toledo in the International League.
Robinson said he had been negotiating with the Phillies since they claimed Allen on waivers.
"I feel that if we can get two outstanding young players for him we are better off than having him play here unwillingly or not play here at all," Robinson said.
"Johnny Oates was put in the deal because he has been unhappy in his role as a second string catcher in Atlanta," Robinson said.
The Braves, who obtained rights to Allen from the White Sox for $5,000 and a player to be named later, still have an obligation to the White Sox.
Robinson said a player will be dealt later to Chicago to complete that deal.

Warriors even series

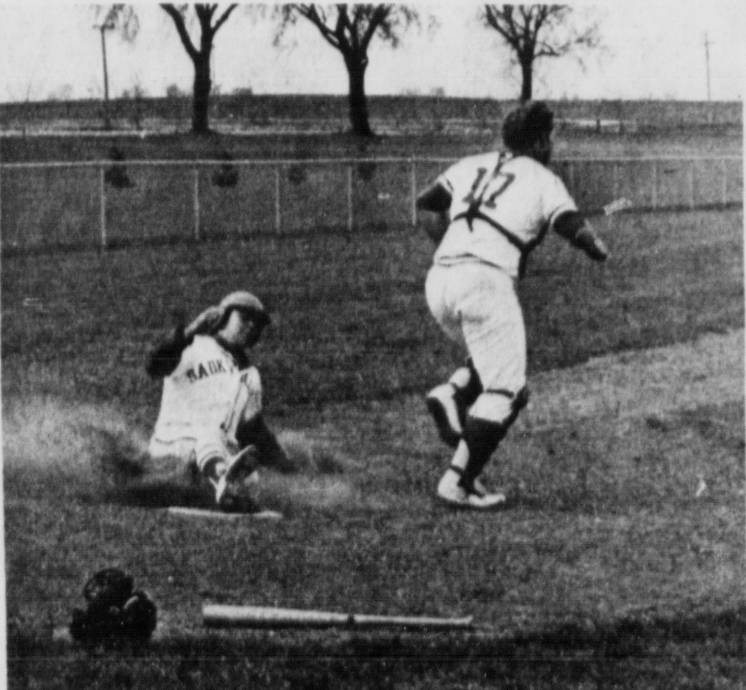

OAKLAND (AP)—Rick Barry came out a winner in "one of the most memorable games I've ever played in."
And after scoring 36 points Tuesday night, leading the Golden State Warriors to a comeback 111-106 victory over the Chicago Bulls, Barry isn't haunted quite so much by the fatal mistake he made two games earlier.
"Thank God it's even now," the Warriors' star said after doing his bit in squaring the National Basketball Association Western Conference finals at two games apiece.
The fifth game is scheduled here Thursday night.
The Bulls blew a 19-point lead in the fourth game of the best-of-seven series, but guard Norm Van Lier vowed later, "We're going to win the play-off."
Chicago has a 2-26 all-time playoff record in road game, but Van Lier feels, "We're the better team, and we're going to prove it."
There were no flat predictions of victory from the Warriors, but Barry noted, "It's a three-game series now, and we'll have the homecourt advantage twice."
Barry, in Game 2 at Chicago, threw up a foolish shot in the closing seconds, giving the Bulls the ball and the opportunity they needed to pull out a 90-89 victory.
The Warriors' forward and his teammates started off miserably Tuesday night, trailing 35-18 after one quarter and by 39-20 early in the second period. Jeff Mullins came off the bench to score eight points in the second period, Barry added six and it was 52-50 Chicago at halftime.
The third period was even, but the Warriors overtook the foul-troubled Chicagoans in the final period. Barry had 26 of his points in the second half.
Bob Love had 27 points to lead the Bulls.

Redmen split versus Carl Sandburg

By JIM FOX
Telegraph Sports Writer
SAUK VALLEY — Sauk Valley combined the two big factors of hitting and pitching and the outcome was a 12-0 swamping of Carl Sandburg in a junior college conference doubleheader played here, Tuesday afternoon. Sandburg took the opener 4-1.
John O'Brien gave up only three harmless singles in the five-inning game and was backed by a barrage of 10 hits from his teammates which included a seven-run fifth inning. After scoring only five runs in their previous three games, the Redmen came to life in the night cap of the doubleheader.
Sauk jumped on the Charger's starting pitcher, Jeff Kohl (0-4), for two runs in the first frame on RBI singles by Jerry Janssen and O'Brien. The Redmen taced on three additional runs in the third with Steve Sheffler's two-run triple being the big blow of the inning.
Randy Paisley led off the seven-run fifth-frame with a triple over the centerfielder's head and scored minutes later on a wild pitch. After two walks and a hit to load the bases, O'Brien chased Kohl from the mound with a single to right field, plating two runners and ballooning the score to 9-0.
Bruce Van DeVelde chased a pair of runs home on an opposite field pinch-hit single and catcher Gary Stewart rapped up the scoring with an RBI safety to centerfield.
O'Brien walked one batter and whiffed five in his stint of work and put down the last nine batters in a row, to collect his third victory in seven decisions.
Sandburg pitching ace Tim Hayden allowed Sauk one run on five hits as the Chargers captured the opening game. The big right hander struck out 10 Redmen while walking two in a complete game performance.

Jim Baumgart also allowed only five hits in his seven innings of work, but Sandburg bunched three of them in the first frame to push three runs across. Kohl opened the game with a bloop single to left and advanced to second on an error by the Sauk Valley left fielder. Dave Stevens laid down a bunt single enabling Kohl to reach third. After a base on balls, the Chargers took the lead on a wild pitch. Al Malmquist drove in Stevens with a single to left and the third run scored on a throwing error.
O'Brien scored Sauk's sole run when he led off the seventh inning with an infield base hit, advanced to second on a ground out, went to third on a wild pitch and raced home on a checked swing infield hit by Randy Ellmaker.

The doubleheader split leaves Sauk's conference record at 3-7 while its overall record shows 8-15. The Redmen travel to Illinois Valley Friday afternoon for a non-conference twin bill before returning to the Sauk Valley campus Sunday for two games against Rock Valley.

Sabres win

BUFFALO (AP) — It is unlikely that Rene Robert's contract calls for overtime pay and he admits he doesn't like putting in extra time on his job.

Nobody, he said of his Buffalo Sabres teammates and himself, "likes an overtime game. One mistake and you're gone."

Neither Robert nor the Sabres made a mistake in Tuesday night's sudden-death overtime and Buffalo, on Robert's low shot, defeated the Montreal Canadiens 5-4 in Game 5 of their National Hockey League semifinal playoff.

The victory gave the Sabres a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series with Game 6 to be played in Montreal Thursday night and, if necessary, the seventh scheduled for Sunday here.

Gil Perreault, center on Buffalo's high-scoring French Connection line that includes Robert and Rick Martin, won a faceoff, skated up ice with the puck and fed it to Robert.

"Before the puck is dropped in a faceoff, I usually pull back," Robert said. "But I said before this one, 'Heck, I'm going to move in this time.' I just gave the puck a beating."

Buffalo won the first two games of the series at home, 6-5 in overtime and 4-2, then dropped 7-0 and 8-2 games in Montreal.

The Sabres, peppering Montreal goalie Ken Dryden with 21 shots in the first period, scored when the game was only 2:18 old. Craig Ramsay fired the rebound of Don Luce's breakaway shot past Dryden.

But the Canadiens tied the game at 1-1 just 33 seconds later on Jacques Lemaire's fifth playoff goal.

Fred Stanfield put Buffalo in front again at 8:37, then it was Perreault's chance to snap the Connection's slump. Perreault backhanded in a goal at 17:03.

Montreal's Yvan Cournoyer scored at 19:53 to cut the Buffalo lead to 3-2.

Doug Risebrough's score at 8:40 of the second period tied the game at 3-3 and Montreal went ahead, 4-3, at 3:10 of the third on Jim Roberts' shot.

Then, with 5:25 remaining in regulation play, Ramsay scored again.

Coleman fires one-hitter in Tiger win

by HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Joe Coleman thought he threw a good pitch. Nelson Briles knew he threw a bad pitch. Both pitches came down behind a fence as two-run homers but Coleman and Briles came up with victories anyway.

Detroit's Coleman was tagged for a two-run homer by Milwaukee's George Scott in the very first inning but that was the only hit he allowed as the Tigers rallied to end the Brewers' five-game winning streak 4-2.

Kansas City's Briles blanked Texas on four hits until Willie Davis tied the game with a two-run homer in the eighth. But the Royals retaliated with four runs in the bottom of the eighth and trimmed the Rangers 6-2.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox downed the Cleveland Indians 4-1, the Oakland A's shaded the California Angels 5-3 and the Minnesota Twins beat the Chicago White Sox 4-1. The New York-Baltimore game was washed out.

Coleman spun his one-hitter although he hadn't pitched in more than a week.

"With that much of a layoff it might hurt you," he said. "Your arm may be strong but your legs hurt."

Scott's first-inning homer following a hit batsman gave Milwaukee a 2-0 lead.

"It was a sidearm curve," Coleman said. "I'd throw it again. I didn't think it was a bad pitch."

Manager Ralph Houk did. "The only bad things he did all night were hanging that breaking ball to Scott and walking Hank Aaron in the ninth," Houk said.

Bill Freehan's fourth-inning homer off Pete Broberg started the Detroit scoring. Ron LeFlore put the Tigers in front with a bases-loaded two-run single in the fifth and scored the final run in the seventh when he walked, stole second and came home on a single by Gary Sutherland.

Royals 6, Rangers 2
George Brett delivered a tie-breaking single and Frank White added a two-run hit in Kansas City's four-run eighth. After the Rangers tied the score on Davis' two-run homer, Jim Bibb issued a leadoff walk to John Mayberry in the bottom of the eighth and Hal McRae singled him to second.

Reliever Steve Foucault fanned Harmon Killebrew but Brett snapped the tie with a single and the runners wound up on second and third on the throw to the plate. White followed with a two-run single, took second on the throw home and scored on a single by Buck Martinez.

Briles, 3-0, finished with a six-hitter.

Red Sox 4, Indians 1
Bill Lee's six-hit pitching and Bob Montgomery's two-run single led Boston to its fourth straight triumph. Montgomery's second-inning single off Dick Bosman put the Red Sox ahead 2-0 after singles by Jim Rice and Rico Petrocelli and an error by second baseman Jack Brohamer loaded the bases.

The Sox doubled their margin in the third on a hit batsman, Fred Lynn's RBI double and a single by Rice.

Lee lost his shutout when George Hendrick homered in the sixth.

A's 5, Angels 3

Sal Bando doubled home the winning run in the seventh inning after Claudell Washington tied the score with a leadoff homer. The A's added an insurance run in the eighth on singles by Phil Garner and Bill North and Washington's sacrifice fly.

After Washington slammed his second home run of the season, tying the score 3-3 and chasing California starter Ed Figueroa, reliever Don Kirkwood retired two batters but walked pinch hitter Charlie Sands. Pinch runner Matt Alexander stole second and scored.

the go-ahead run on Bando's double.

The Angels had taken a 3-2 lead with two runs in the top of the seventh.

Twins 4, White Sox 1

Steve Brye hit his first home run of the season and Larry Hise added a run-scoring triple as the Twins won their fourth straight game. The defeat was the sixth for Chicago's Wilbur Wood, who has won only once.

Minnesota scored twice in the second inning on a single by Hise, a double by Craig Kuskis and singles by Steve Braun and Rod Carew. Brye led off the third inning with his homer and Hise added a run-scoring triple in the eighth. Chicago scored off Dave Goltz in the second inning on singles by Deron Johnson, Bill Sharp and Rocky Dent.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers topped the Houston Astros 3-1, the Montreal Expos crushed the Chicago Cubs 9-4, the Cincinnati Reds clubbed the San Diego Padres 7-3 and the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the New York Mets 2-1 in eight innings. The Philadelphia-St. Louis game was rained out.

Eventually, Randy Moffitt came on in relief of the 21-year-old who had expected to pitch baseballs in the Texas League this year after owning lockers in previous seasons at Great Falls, Mont.; Fresno, Calif.; and Amarillo, Tex. The two finished with a three-hitter that went into the books as Falcone's third victory in four decisions.

Koufax, in his first year, was 2-2.

Dodgers 3, Astros 1

Don Sutton carried a one-hitter into the eighth inning for the Dodgers but lost that on two leadoff hits. His second consecutive shutout and 23 consecutive scoreless innings rode away on Bob Watson's ninth-inning home run.

Steve Garvey hit a two-run single and Ron Cey hit his seventh home run to back Sutton's four-hitter, his 15th victory in 16 decisions and the Dodgers' 10th triumph in 12 games.

Expos 9, Cubs 4
Montreal's Mike Jorgensen has two career grand-slam home runs. Rick Reuschel has watched both of them from the pitcher's mound.

The first was Sept. 6, 1973. "You remember," Jorgensen said. "You don't get so many of them that you forget."

The fourth-inning blast over the right-field fence at Jarry Park gave the Expos and Steve Rogers an 8-0 lead.

Reds 3, Padres 3
Pete Rose says he still isn't comfortable playing third base instead of left field, but he's doing fine at the plate, including four hits in five at-bats to key a 14-hit Cincinnati attack.

Joe Morgan added three hits, including a home run and a triple, to power the Reds and pitcher Jack Billingham past the Padres. Willie McCovey's three-run home run in the fourth inning provided the San Diego scoring.

Pirates 2, Mets 1
Pittsburgh catcher Manny Sanguillen hit two run-scoring doubles before the clouds opened up on Shea Stadium. The safeties gave Ken Brett all the runs he needed to beat Tom Seaver.

"We Service What We Sell"

ANNOUNCEMENT

You probably already know that we have become the people thought of first and foremost when it comes to Snowmobiles and Chain Saws. Our overwhelming success in a short time is due to the lessons we've learned in the truck and farm equipment business.

Carefully picking the right products, training capable people to service them, stocking the parts to fix them, and sticking to it through times of shortages and temptations to sell a cheaper product. These have been the hard and fast rules we have stuck to!

We Sell, Service and Stock Parts for Allis Chalmers Lawn and Garden Equipment and New Idea Electric Lawn and Garden Equipment.

We Personally Guarantee you'll like this equipment in your own yard. We sell at prices we both can live with and offer you high trade-ins and convenient financing. We will be here when you need us.

Sincerely, the Good Service People from Dixon

Soviet spies change tactics

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet espionage service, the KGB, is shifting tactics and growing in strength, according to intelligence sources in Western Europe.

They say they see a decreasing reliance by the KGB on agents who enter a Western country legally and work in embassies under diplomatic cover. Instead they see an increasing use of two other types of spy.

One is the "illegal," the agent smuggled in, such as a spy who steps off a freighter at an unwatched port. The other is the citizen of a Western country "turned around" to work for the Soviets.

Both types of agents are harder for Western intelligence services to spot than the highly visible "diplomats."

Smuggling a Russian spy into Britain, for example, is as easy as stepping off a boat.

A dozen British ports, among them Halifax in northern England, Ayr in Scotland and Barry in South Wales, have no immigration or customs officers. Russian freighters carrying crews of 30 and maybe 10 passengers call at these ports from time to time.

It is fairly simple to walk off one of these ships unnoticed and hide in the largely working class districts near the docks where many people are sympathetic to the local Communist party.

"The KGB are rationalizing their clandestine activities," one Western intelligence source said. "The illegals are more cost effective."

By that the source meant that an agent working as a diplomat can be costly if he defects and blows the cover of other Russian spies. Illegals and local nationals can be just as effective, and less damaging if caught.

The KGB suffered a major blow here in 1971 when the British government expelled as spies 105 Soviet officials working in the embassy or the trade mission. At the time the British estimated 75 per cent of the Russian diplomats accredited to London were spies. Their identities are known and it may be difficult for Moscow to place them abroad again in other embassies.

The Institute for the Study of Conflict, a London group which has access to some British, European and U.S. intelligence reports, estimates, however, that three out of every four Soviet diplomats in Western Europe still work for the KGB.

Western sources say the proportion of Russian spies working under diplomatic cover has remained steady, but there has been a noticeable shift toward other types of agents such as illegals and locals. These tend to concentrate in areas where the United States has large installions.

"The U.S. is the main target for Soviet espionage in Europe," a British source said. According to him the prime Soviet goals are to infiltrate into the U.S. Defense Department, the State Department, the National Security Council, the CIA and the FBI.

These organizations are weaker on the periphery than at the center and this is why the Russians try to infiltrate around the edges in Europe, he added.

Supermarkets

and bigger

Here's what to do if you want food savings!

Sure you want to save on food. Who doesn't? The problem is to find a supermarket that consistently gives you more for your food dollar. The best way we know of doing that is by comparing.

Prove it to yourself!

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Big-gro stores, more coupons and electronic gadgets at every turn.

That's what consumers can expect to find at the supermarket in coming months, according to experts at an industry convention here.

The annual report of the Super Market Institute, presented Monday and based on a survey of 11,000 stores with annual sales of some $35 billion, indicated:

—There were about 2 per cent fewer supermarkets at the end of 1974 than there were a year earlier, but there was about 3 million more square feet of floor space, indicating a trend toward bigger stores. The statistics on store closings did not reflect the recent decision by A & P, the nation's second largest chain in terms of sale, to close more than one-third of its 3,600 outlets.

—Coupons and other discount operations are gaining ground, but trading stamps are losing. Fifty-two per cent of the stores surveyed by the institute said they were putting more emphasis on coupons; 48 per cent described themselves as discount operations; and only 17 per cent were offering trading stamps, a decline from the previous year.

—The average customer spent $8.23 on each trip to the supermarket last year. That was 10.2 per cent more than the previous year, but inflation ate up the increase. When spending was measured in real dollars, the amount of the average transaction declined more than 18 per cent.

—Supermarket profits were at their highest level since 1971, representing 4.1 per cent of total assets, compared with 2.5 per cent in 1973, 4 per cent in 1972 and 5.3 per cent in 1971.

—The supermarkets' net profit before taxes last year was equal to 1.8 per cent of sales, the highest in five years. After tax figures were not available. Almost 10 cents of every dollar spent at the supermarket went for labor costs and fringe benefits — about the same as a year earlier.

—Retail sales rose 16.4 per cent in 1974. After adjustment for inflation, the increase was about 1.5 per cent.

—Energy costs added to the grocery bill and are likely to add still more, offsetting recent declines in the prices paid to farmers. The supermarket operators surveyed said electricity bills went up 24 per cent in 1974; heating bills went up 20 per cent; and transportation costs rose 19 per cent. The retailers said they expected electric bills to go up another 17 per cent this year and predicted heating and transportation costs would jump 15 per cent.

Some 12,000 persons are on hand for the convention and many of the retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers ate, drank or stared their way through more than 600 exhibits Monday afternoon, seeking ways to boost profits and cut costs with new products.
